

York Open Research launch event (Thursday 25 June, 2020)

York Open Research Thursday 25 June 2020

 A recording of this event is available on YouTube

Description

We hosted an online York Open Research launch event to showcase the work of our community of practitioners and to advocate for the wider adoption of open research across all disciplines.

Programme

- Introduction: Prof Sarah Thompson (Associate Dean for Research, Science)
- Opening: Prof Matthias Ruth (Pro-Vice Chancellor for Research)
- Keynote: Rachel Bruce (UKRI Head of Open Research)

'Open Research: Key Developments'

- Prof Emma Marsden (Professor, Education)

'Open research practices in the language sciences: Materials, data, and findings (IRIS and OASIS)'

- Emma James (Postgraduate Researcher, Psychology)

'Open research means open conversation'

- Emma Rand (Senior Lecturer, Biology)

'A Software Sustainability Institute Fellowship: Targeting PhD students for the transmission of open and reproducible practice'

Presenters retain all performance rights, copyright ownership and intellectual property rights to their work. No further copying is permitted without permission from the researchers except where allowed under the terms of a public reuse licence where indicated at source, or as permitted by legal exception.